Dear mr. Farmaner,

Please review this article on developing telecom in under-served regions, it refers indeed to our activities (and the share-holder structure that you refer to)

I believe I partially understand your campaign and I want you to grasp ours as well: we are trying to help the people of the country, by giving them access to the internet, giving them an extra chance to development, education, opportunity and yes, democracy. And OK we are not a non-profit organization, but we work with most infrastructure providing NGO's.

The same type of system that we provide for these people's 4G access is used by the United Nation in the country for humanitarian and logistic reasons, activities also referred to on your website.

I am happy to call you to discuss the matter, however I would like you to acknowledge at least that, to a certain degree, you believe that Newtec's intensions and objectives are rightful.

Best regards,

Thomas Van den Driessche
