

November 2013

Dear Ms. Phan,

Thank you for getting in touch with your enquiry and please accept our apologies for the delayed reply.

Tony Blair takes a keen interest in the region. During his visits to Myanmar, he has met a number of political figures, including Ministers and Aung San Suu Kyi, to discuss politics, reform and global issues.

We are currently carrying out governance work on a short-term basis, supporting the government to build delivery mechanisms to help deliver their long-term strategic goals. This work is being carried out on a pro bono basis and is very similar to the work that Mr Blair does in Africa for one of his charities, the Africa Governance Initiative.

Yours sincerely,

The Office of Tony Blair
